Hunters asked for assistance

The beginning of the fall hunting season coincides with prime harvest time for illegal marijuana crops, and according to Shane Corr, director of the Hancock County Narcotics Task Force, hunters who assist in locating the illegal crops are eligible for a reward.

"Marijuana plants are maturing and ready for harvest this time of year," Corr said. "There will be more hunters in the woods, and we ask that anyone who spots a field or even one plant, contact the Task Force or the Hancock County Sheriff's Department. All information given will be held in the strictest confidence. We are offering rewards for information leading to the location of marijuana plants."

To report information, call the Task Force at 467-1496 or the Hancock County Sheriff's Department at 467-5101.

Ulman Pier drags on

City assesses contractor for delay

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Work on the Ulman Street pier is expected to drag on at least another month, while the contractor is being assessed $250 per day in late charges, the project engineer said Monday.

"I hate to get into...this situation," said Marty Dove of Brown and Mitchell Engineering concerning the penalty against Clarke Construction Co. Still, the firm's deadline for completion of a 700-foot reconstruction segment should have been finished by Sept. 9, he noted.

That's including a 14-day extension the city granted

Clarke, to offset days lost to bad weather, and some unexpected problems with setting the pier's pilings into place.

Dove said the financial penalty against Clarke is in effect for each day—rain or shine, weekend or week day—that the project remains incomplete.

Meanwhile, officials have called for bids on the second and final phase of the project. Those bids are to be opened Oct. 23.

The first leg of the project was funded under a $525,000 Tidlands Trust Fund grant, providing replacement of the first 700 feet of wooden pier with a concrete structure.

The second phase will extend the pier another 500 feet, under a $400,000 Tidlands grant.

Originally, the city planned to leave 500 feet of wooden pier in place, connecting to the new span

'A Place of Art' tops list of weekend events

BY B.R. HAWKINS

In its seventh year, "A Place of Art" has returned to the streets and store fronts of Old Town Bay St. Louis. The exhibition, planned and sponsored by A Place of Art Association and the Old Town Bay St. Louis Merchants Association, annually showcases the city as the premier arts community of the Gulf Coast.

Artwork of professional artists of the Gulf South region will first be exhibited at The Patrons Party, 7-10 p.m., Friday, Sept. 25 at the Bay St. Louis Historical Depot, located on Railroad Ave. between Union and Bookter streets. Winners in the juried show, will be awarded prizes ranging from $1,000 for first place to honorable mention plaques and ribbons. Guests will have an opportunity to bid on artwork and gifts in a silent auction and will dine on hors d'oeuvres prepared by the chefs of Casino Magic. Tickets are $25.

The Weekend Exhibition and Sale, 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 26, and noon until 5 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 27, located along Main Street beginning at the Hancock County Courthouse, Talle Johnson will serve as featured artist in the seventh annual A Place of Art, scheduled Sept. 25-27, in Old Town Bay St. Louis. An instructor and artist in residence at William Carey College, Johnson has been throwing pottery since he was 17.

will present a number of demonstrations, hands-on activities for adults and children, as well as exhibits from area artists and craftsmen.

Members of the William Carey College Arts Fraternity, a national fraternity of art students, will be assembled, both Saturday and Sunday, on the Hancock County Courthouse lawn to conduct demonstrations in pottery, painting, and drawing.

The Children's Hands-on Art Workshop scheduled from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m., Saturday only, will be located in the Hancock Bank parking lot next to Serenity Gallery across from Carole's Olde Towne Restaurant.

Children of all ages are invited to stop by and try their hand at various arts and crafts projects. The children's workshop is free of charge.

Patrons for the Seventh Annual "A Place of Art" include Casino Magic, Hancock Bank, Peoples Bank, Alcan Cable, Mr. Steven K. Burtch, Mr. Mark Buszkiewicz, Hancock Medical Center, Mr. Carter Church and Mr. Yancy Pogue, Mr. John Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Meyes, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Dwyer, Union Planters Bank, Charter Mortgage, Loiacano Health Club, and Lynda's Cookery.

Gulf regional artists scheduled to participate in the exhibition include Allison H. Anderson, Marcel Anderson, Bert Abdry, Pat-

Reward offered in bomb threat

BY ED LEPOMA
A $5,000 reward is being offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person who called in a bomb threat Monday that resulted in a mass evacuation of the Wellman Plant at Port Bienville.

Hancock County Fire Marshal Richard Pate confirmed that someone called the 911 number at the Sheriff's Department about 10:10 a.m. Monday, and claimed there was a bomb planted somewhere in the area where the giant Wellman plastics manufacturing plant is under construction.

Pate said the threat was immediately relayed to Wellman, and workers were ordered evacuated from the administration building, the warehouse and from the site where construction is taking place.

Most of the office workers stood outside while their work place was searched, Pate said,

Groundwork laid for program in port management

BY ED LEPOMA

The groundwork will be laid next fall for a port management school on the Mississippi Coast that will link academia with shipping and hopefully increase foreign trade.

Officials of the University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Coast and the Diamondhead-based Chart Group Ltd. held a news conference Tuesday at Gulfport's port office to announce they are joining hands to sponsor a major port exposition and symposium.

The Mississippi International Port Exposition and Symposium is planned at the Mississippi Gulf Coast Coliseum Oct. 11-14, 1999. Peoples Bank in Biloxi and other sponsors will provide financial support.

Dr. James Williams, USMGC vice president, said the expo and symposium would "create a new continuing education feature that will be unparalleled among U.S. colleges and universities."

He said the objective of the event will be to help Mississippi develop trade and international business, provide the foundation for establishing a port management school at USMGC, enhance continuing education programs through targeted application areas, and strengthen the university's position in the business community, nationally and internationally.

President Charles Reddick and Vice President Russ Eakin of the Chart Group predicted the anticipated annual expo and port management school at USM's Gulf Park campus in Long Beach would create "ripple" economic benefits throughout the state.

They pointed out there are 16 ports located on the Gulf Coast and along the Mississippi River and Tombigbee Waterway. "No one has ever put together accredited coursework that incorporates an internship program at viable operating ports where you can go to school and, at the same time, serve an apprenticeship wherever these ports are located," said Eakin.

"You will have a marriage of ports and academia that will be really unique," Eakin added.

Estimates are it would take about a year to establish a non-degree port school program as part of the university's Continuing Education curriculum.

Classwork and internship training would be flexible and augmented by international experts who would be brought in to lecture on a continuing basis.

The exposition is expected to attract a wide range of port contractors and users, economic development specialists, exhibitors and related industry representatives. The USMGC Continuing Education symposium will focus on trade with the America.

Proposed seminars will address such topics as port technology development, port management, industry trends, environmental requirements and constraints and information availability.

"CUEVAS' QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The long awaited public dedication of Hancock Medical Center Women's & Children's Pavilion will take place tomorrow, (Friday) at 10 a.m.

This is a very fine facility, and everyone in the community needs to attend this great event.

As our community grows, so does our hospital. There will be tours of the new facility, as patients are scheduled to be moved in on Monday.

We hope to see you at the big celebration tomorrow.

Both Bay High and Hancock will celebrate homecoming this Friday. Bay High's original homecoming date was to be next month but recently changed to this Friday.

Hancock will play host to St. Stanislaus for homecoming in Hawk Stadium Friday night.

Hancock lost a heartbreaker last week by one point to Long Beach and will be out to get back on the winning track.

Stanislaus, too, lost a close game to Vancleave last Friday.

Bay High, fresh from a 33-7 victory over Poplarville is playing host to Pearl River.

Pass Christian has an open date this Friday.

The Tigers, Hawks and Rock-A-Chaws can all use your support in in the stands at Friday night's games. We hope to see you in the stands.

The Marine Debris Task Force decided to canceled the cleanup last Saturday due to severe weather forecasted because of the tropical storm in the Gulf.

The cleanup has now been rescheduled, and Hancock Countians will be able to participate with the plans as were for last Saturday.

Registration tables will be set up 7:30 a.m. to 9 a.m. in Bay St. Louis at Beach Blvd. and Ulman Avenue; in Waveland at the Garfield Ladner Fishing pier; and in the Clermont Harbor-Lakeshore areas at Buccaneer State Park. Registration at Earth Shore Foundation for the rivers, bayous and canals will be at 226 Skyline, Garden Island Subdivision off Washington and Chapman roads.

For pre-registrations for the beach cleanup, call the Chamber at 467-9048, while for the rivers, canals and bayous, call Earth Shores Foundation at 463-0343.

By the way, at Buccaneer State Park, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., or until they are all gone, hot dogs will be available, courtesy of Congressman Gene Taylor with Chris Lagarde as chef. The chamber's beautification committee will supply the buns and soft drinks.

We hope to see you at the cleanup on Saturday.

It is that time again, time for the big fund raiser by the Krewe of Nereids

The Family Fish Fry will take place 4 to 7 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 29, Hancock County Civic Center, Longfellow Drive.

The ladies of the Krewe of Nereids will once again have a very talented crew of male chefs preparing the fish.

The meal will include crispy fried fish, hush puppies, green beans, potato salad, garlic bread and iced tea. For the fish fry there will be a donation of $6.50, and take-outs will be available.

A show of full-throttle live entertainment, featuring multi-talented krewe members, begins at 7:30 p.m. followed by the dance band, Show Boat of Biloxi, for $12.50 per person.

I am told guests can boogie to the sounds of the first-rate band until midnight. Set-ups will be furnished, BYOB.

There will also be a silent auction during the evening. The annual Nereids Fish Fry and Dance is one of the major fund raised for the Krewe which sponsors the annual Mardi Gras parade which travels Highway 90 in Waveland and Bay St. Louis each year.

Tickets for the fish fry and dance are available from members and will also be available at the door. The public is invited.

During September Library Card Sign-Up Month is celebrated.

This is a national project promoted by the American Library Association.

The Hancock County Library System and the Kiwanis Club of Hancock County are joining forces to promote parents signing up for public library services for their family.

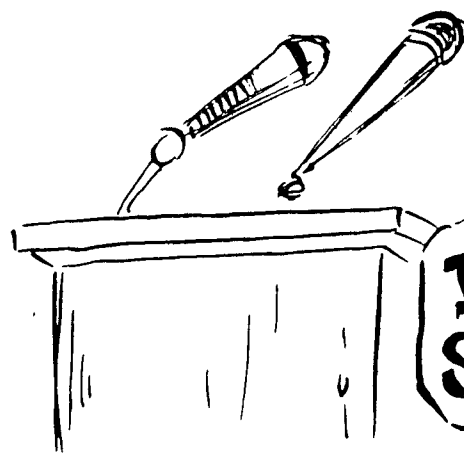

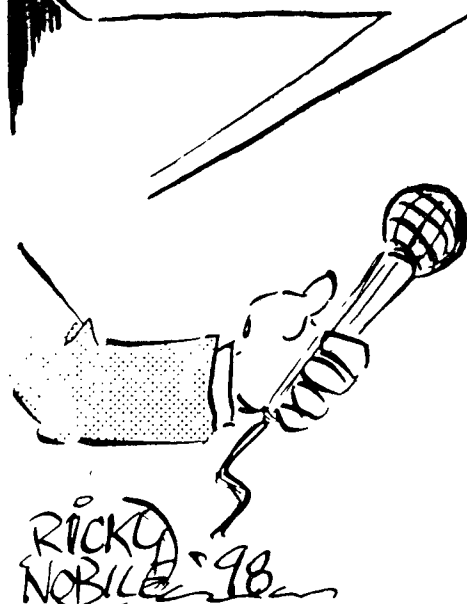

If your family does not have a library card, now is a good time to get one.

Letters Welcome

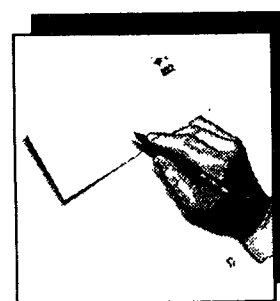

The Sea Coast Echo welcomes comments from its readers on subjects of general interest. Letters must be signed and include address or phone number so that the sender can be contacted by the newspaper if necessary. Letters should be brief, preferably typewritten and double spaced, and conform to standards of good taste. Only one letter per writer per month will be published. LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Supervisors should check local sources for information

Dear Editor:

Someone needs to advise Mr. Moran (president of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors) that he lives in Hancock County, not Jackson, Miss. The paper (Clarion Ledger) he got his information from obviously doesn't know what goes on in Hancock County. If Mr. Moran would check with the Sheriff at his courthouse he would find that there are not 45 jailers in the Hancock County Sheriff's Office. Some listed as jailers are part-time road officers, dispatchers, and part-timers who are called only when they are needed.

When Mr. Moran stated that the Sheriff's budget is $3.4 million he didn't state that the Sheriff's budget is just half of that. The rest is the jail budget, and out of that half pays the jailers and other personnel, not to mention all the doctor bills on county inmates and their meals.

It is true that the jailers start at $5.50 per hour, while a county employee who picks up trash on the beach with no training starts at $7.15 per hour. Mr. Moran was nice to point out that a road officer, who risks his life for the county makes a sum of $6.97 per hour, but neglected to mention that this is after Academy Certification.

One other thing he didn't point out is that the board members make $33,547.97 per year, and some of them still hold other jobs. (Not bad for part-time personnel). This information was obtained from the Hancock County Courthouse, not the Clarion Ledger.

If the Sheriff is to take Mr. Moran's advice and lay some officers off to raise the salary of the others, the county taxpayer would be the one hurt. I think the Sheriff should take Mr. Moran's advice and raise the pay to what the two cities are paying.

When the Sheriff's budget is depleted, will the Board of Supervisors make a decision to shut the Sheriff down, or will they find the additional funds?

Enough is enough

Dear Editor:

Enough is enough. Please, let's leave the President alone and let him get on with his job. He's been punished enough. Hilary and Chelsea Clinton have been kicked in the teeth.

That foolish young woman, Lewinsky, has effectively destroyed her own future. What more is anyone going to accomplish by adding fuel to the fire?

Americans are sick and tired of this whole side show. Overseas, they think we're crazy to make such a mountain of this molehill. (I'm sure someone has already quoted to you, "Let him who is without sin cast the first stone.")

By now, any further action — especially on the part of Congress — is only likely to further feed the media, the porn shops and their brethren and make us look like a bunch of idiots to the rest of the world.

Sincerely yours,
Vivian P. Ramsay

Dispatcher pleads for better salaries in department

Dear Editor:

Recently the Board of Supervisors denied Sheriff Ronnie Peterson's request to increase the annual budget for raises for our county law enforcement officers. This is totally outrageous.

How can the citizens of Hancock County expect to feel safe when our deputies and dispatchers are tired on the job because they are working one or two other part-time jobs to support their families?

Because of the low salary there is also a quick turnover with dispatchers leaving us shorthanded and forcing us to work overtime. We do not get overtime pay for this however. We just get compensatory time to take off at a later date.

Recently some of us had to work six, seven even eight 12-hour shifts in a row, and there are times when someone calls in sick and someone has to pull a double shift, meaning they work 24 hours straight. This is not easy, and it's even tougher when your job is as stressful as dispatching. We average over 2,000 calls per month.

Everyone knows in this day and age that it is difficult for a family to live on $10,000 to $15,000 a year. No one should be expected to live on this shameful salary.

I have been a dispatcher with the Hancock Sheriff's Office for almost three years and I make approximately $11,000 a year. That is only $500 a year more than when I first started.

The supervisors say that it's up to the Sheriff how he spends his money and that he should lay some people off.

That's ridiculous. We are shorthanded as it is, and we work hard for the little money we make.

Since we don't make much money you might wonder why we stay with this job. It's because we love our jobs. We know that our jobs deal more with helping people than writing tickets and marking arrests.

Some of the deputies go to bed knowing that they helped save someone's life or recovered someone's property.

And they often risk their lives in the performance of their duties and get no guarantee that they'll go home at the end of their shift.

Dispatchers have often helped calm an innocent child who called 911 crying, because his father was beating his mother or calm a family member whose loved one is dying while they are patching them through to an ambulance service. Our dispatchers also are responsible for getting firefighters and other emergency personnel to homes and businesses.

Our jobs require constant in-service training, quick thinking, dignity and courage.

"To Protect and To Serve" is more than just a catch phrase to the members of the Hancock Sheriff's Department.

Don't you think that they deserve to know that they are worth more than the meager $10,000 to $15,000 they make per year?

As a taxpaying citizen and a voter, get in touch with your supervisor and let him or her know how you feel. Call them, tell them what you think. Ring their phones and ask them what they'd do if every law enforcement officer left the county to get a better paying job and there is no one left to help you.

Sincerely,
Hope Proulx, Dispatcher

Writer says junior varsity needs school coverage, too

Letters to the Editor:

I attend some of the Bay High Junior Varsity football games and am very disappointed in the attendance at those games. I do not have a child at Bay High and go to the games anyway. The attendance is very low.

But what I find even more disappointing is that no one from the Bay High School staff is there to take pictures of the cheerleaders or the team for the school yearbook. It appears that the only interest in school sports is with the girls basketball team.

School management should equally support all sports played at the school. I think it is pathetic that there is no one there to record the "memories" for the school and for the players and cheerleaders.

I know that the football teams do not have the best record for the season, but with more support from the students, teachers and staff, their record is sure to improve.

Bay resident says two stories tell the truth

To the Editor:

Do any of you want to know the real truth about what happened to our President, Bill Clinton?

Then you must read the Sunday, Sept. 13 Sun Herald, Page B, Nation & World article, "Currie aided, ignored affair."

Also, read the Monday, Sept.

14 Sun Herald, Page B, Nation & World article, "Lewinsky took affair seriously."

Now, who really caused this cruel, ugly situation?

Yes, the President could have said no!

HMC new pavilion ceremonies set Friday

Hancock Medical Center, 149 Drinkwater Blvd., Bay St. Louis, will kick off its opening celebrations for the new Women's and Children's Pavilion tonight with a patrons' gala, 6-8 p.m., sponsored by the center's foundation board. Dedication ceremonies are scheduled at 10 a.m. Friday, Sept. 25 at the pavilion.

Ceremonies will be conducted by Hal Leftwich, HMC director. Guests to take part in the ceremonies include Mark Garriga, Governor Kirk Fordice's chief of staff, Charles R. Johnson, president of the medical center's board of trustees; Joseph R. Lee, HMC chief of staff, and Francis Theriault, pastor of St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church.

Ceremonies will be followed by a public reception with refreshments. "Staff will be on hand to welcome guests for self-guided tours of the new facility," said Janet McQueen, HMC community relations director. "Nursing personnel will be stationed around the pavilion to explain the uses of each area."

HISTORY

Hancock Medical Center has served the community's health care needs since 1960. Established under the name of Hancock General Hospital, the Dunbar Avenue facility replaced Kings Daughters Hospital, a multi-room frame structure located in downtown Bay St. Louis.

The current Drinkwater Boulevard acute care facility, constructed in 1987, is fully accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations. A major renovation in 1995 focused on the expansion of the emergency area and several ancillary departments.

The 7,500-sq.-ft. addition included a large outpatient/emergency department lobby, expanded respiratory, radiology, surgery and rehabilitation departments. New state-of-the-art diagnostic equipment in surgery and radiology allowed

An 8,000-sq.-ft. Business and Education Complex opened in 1997 to house the accounting, financial and information services departments, as well as spacious classroom available for use by the community.

The hospital was licensed for an additional 38 beds (for a total of 104) in 1998, and later that year opened a 49,000-sq.-ft. women's and children's pavilion and new intensive care unit.

An outpatient surgery registration area and expanded surgical unit were also part of the expansion project. The medical center is planning the renovation of several existing departments to improve patient accessibility and convenience.

More than 100 physicians representing a broad spectrum of medical specialties make up Hancock Medical Center's active and consulting medical staffs. Combined with the dedication of 400+ professional staff members, our health care team strives to provide the highest quality medical care for the community.

Hunt goes on

Bay St. Louis Police Detective Tom Burleson says the hunt is still on for 77-year-old Herman Cowan of Bay St. Louis, missing since Aug. 21.

Burleson said the police report had a report of someone spotting the man, and perhaps others may have seen him. Cowan, who has a number of health problems, was last seen at his home at 104 Washington Street around 3 a.m. on Friday, Aug. 21.

Anyone with information is asked to call the Bay Police Department at 467-9221.

Cable damage disrupts service in Diamondhead

A damaged cable has disrupted service for up to an estimated 2,000 customers in the Diamondhead area. The entire Diamondhead area is affected, including residences in the Golf Club Drive area and businesses near the I-10 interchange, reported Rick Stewart, regional director, BellSouth.

"It is not necessary for customers to call repair service to report this problem. Crews are already on site and will be making repairs throughout the day and night," added Stewart.

The damage occurred around 1 p.m. Repairs are not anticipated to be completed and service fully restored until early today.

Family service seeks items for mother, child

Families Together, a project of the Mississippi Department of Human Services, is seeking items to assist a client, according to Terrance Lavolette, family preservation specialist.

"Our client is in need of a double- or queen-size bed, mattress and box springs," Lavolette said. "Additionally, she has a critical need for winter clothing for her one-year old son in sizes 24-months to 2T. Also, if anyone has a car seat that can be donated, we would greatly appreciate it."

Anyone wishing to assist Families Together with this list of items may contact Lavolette at 467-4100.

Clarification

Hancock County Comptroller Patty Greer says an Echo story about the Sheriff Department's budget in the Sept. 17 issue was technically incorrect.

Greer said the sheriff actually overspent his budget by six percent or $358,000, but revenues the sheriff received from housing prisoners and from state grants brought the deficit down to $190,000.

That shortfall was made up because most, but not all county departments, underspent their budgets by two percent, according to Greer.

Worksite Wellness Award

Governor Kirk Fordice, second from right, presents the 1998 Worksite Wellness Award to Marilyn Sefton and Robert Occhio of Coast Electric Power Association, for their commitment to providing a healthier working environment for their employees. Assisting in the presentation is Frank Olivar, right, GCPFS Worksite Wellness awards chairman.

Governor honors BSL firm

The Governor's Commission on Physical Fitness & Sports honored 1998 winners of Worksite Wellness Awards at a reception in the Governor's Mansion recently.

Gov. Kirk Fordice presented the awards to the recipients for their development of programs fostering better health and fitness for employees. Winners included Caterpillar Remanufactured Products Group of Corinth, Coast Electric Power Association of Bay St. Louis, Cooley's Fitness & Karate of Waynesboro, North Mississippi Health Services of Tupelo, South Central Regional Medical Center of Laurel, Baptist Health Systems of Jackson, and Tallahatchie Valley Electric Power Association of Batesville.

Also recognized during the reception were financial sponsors of the organization which included Deposit Guaranty National Bank, Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Jackson, South Trust Bank, Trustmark National Bank and North Mississippi Health Services of Tupelo.

During the presentations, Fordice praised the recipients of worksite wellness awards for the commitment to creating a healthy work environment and for the strong financial support from Commission sponsors.

The Commission was established in 1992 to promote the health and well-being of all Mississippians by advancing levels of physical activity.

Library — Agreement

The library will be located in the school's library/media center now under construction at the Charles B. Murphy School.

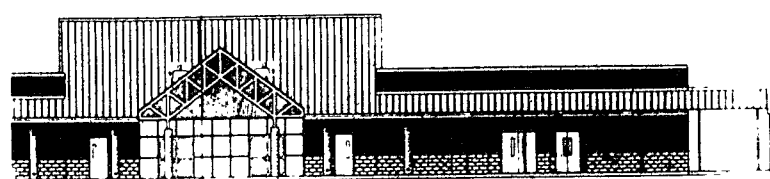

The joint-use partnership will provide library card holders in the Pearlington and surrounding communities access to the library's collection through the automated computer catalog and to check out books. Library users can also place books on reserve, have them delivered to the Pearlington Public Library for pickup, and request interlibrary loan items.

Charles B. Murphy students and faculty will continue to have the services of a certified school librarian and curriculum-related materials.

"We are very excited about this unique cooperative effort," said Prima Plache, Hancock County Library System director, "that will not only meet the needs of the children attending Charles B. Murphy Elementary School, but will also provide library and information services to the entire community in a facility provided by the School District and operated by the Library System. We are proud to be the first in the state to enter into such an agreement."

"The school district board of education is also excited about this partnership," said Terry Randolph, superintendent of education. "Libraries are an integral part of the education process, and combining them at the Charles B. Murphy School is a plus for our students."

Randolph said the students and adults will benefit from the resources both agencies can provide. Students, teachers and the public will gain vital library and information services. He said, with the library system's online database available in the school, students and teachers will have access not only to information about books in the collection, but also to community information, such as public meetings and directories of government and social services.

Plache said children will gain access to thousands of tities in the public library's collection and to current computer technology including magazine articles online, and access to the many resources available on the Internet and the Mississippi Information Network. Children and adults will have the ability to place holds on items in many subject areas that will be sent on request to the Pearlington Public Library.

collection, but also to community information, such as public meetings and directories of government and social services.

Children will gain access to literally tens of thousands of titles in the public library's collection and to current computer technology, including magazine articles on-line and access to the any resources available on the Internet and the Mississippi information Network. Children and adults will have the ability to place holds on items in many subject areas that will be sent on request to the Pearlington Library via the school district's courier service.

With extensive resources available from the library system, during and after school and on Saturday, students who have no transportation for a 40-mile round trip to the main library in Bay St. Louis will be able to walk or ride their bicycle to the facility. Teachers will have additional resources at the school that can strengthen and expedite class assignments. Adults will have access to literacy and adult education programs.

Crafts — Diamondhead

Those returning will feature wood and fabric crafts, quilted items, dried and silk flower arrangements; pottery, ceramics and porcelain; handmade baskets; stained and etched glass; block prints, tie dyed, hand-painted and stenciled clothing; shell crafts; ribbon crafts; fine arts and tole painting; jewelry made of everything from antique buttons and silverware to porcelain and paper, potpourri; homemade jellies in gift baskets; custom made bird houses; wrought iron shelves and plant stands; leather crafts; and cypress outdoor furniture and swings.

These are just samples of the wide variety and selections available.

There are also many special seasonal decorator items for sale, special things for home, yard, door, or personal adornment, for Christmas, Thanksgiving and Halloween.

Drinks and "munchies" will be available outside as well as a variety of food and sandwiches provided by the country club.

There will be free shuttle bus transportation provided from the Diamondhead Shopping Center parking lot on both days. The air conditioned bus will deliver you to where the action is and return at your convenience.

The Diamondhead Youth Organization is the sponsor of the show and will receive all funds after expenses. They are dedicated to providing recreational activities, equipment and opportunities for the young people of Diamondhead.

Bring your appetite for a flavorful dinner of crisply fried fish, hush puppies, green beans, potato salad, garlic bread and iced tea for $6.50. Take-out orders and homemade desserts will be available.

In addition to the feast, a show of full-throttle live entertainment featuring multi-talented krewe members begins at 7:30 followed by the dance band Show Boat from Biloxi. For $12.50 per person, guests can boogie to the sounds of the first-rate band until midnight. Set-ups will be furnished, BYOB.

Throughout the evening, guests will have an opportunity to bid on a variety of unique silent and live auction items and participate in the $1,000 raffle.

The annual fish fry and dance is one of the major fund raisers for the Krewe of Nereids which sponsors an annual Mardi Gras parade in the Bay-Waveland area. 1999 will be the 33rd year for the krewe.

Tickets for the fish fry, dance and raffle are available in advance from a Nereids member or at the door Sept. 26. The public is invited. For information, call Patsy Dubuisson at 467-0244.

restaurateurs will stay open late to entertain the group.

"Even though the Patrons' Party for A Place of Art is going on Friday, all of us are making arrangements to be open for the Harley Group," said Carole Bianco, president of the Old Town Merchants Association.

Main Street from Beach to Second Street will be closed for parking.

Mike Necaise of Gulfport, an organizer for the event, said the Harley Owners Group is the largest end-user group in the world. The average age of the Mississippi group members is 44, and the average income is over $68,000.

"Last year, this same group participated in a regional meeting in Memphis. It was estimated that each member spent approximately $1,200. Today's Harley owners are not the stereotypes of the past," Necaise said.

"The rally itself in Gulfport is not open to the public, so our visit to Bay St. Louis is actually the only opportunity for the general public to see the bikes and meet the owners," Necaise said.

Project Overview

Pearlington Public Library

Hancock County is one of the fastest growing counties in the state of Mississippi. Population increases have been unprecedented and have impacted all government services in the county, including the Hancock County Library System and the Hancock County School District.

Pearlington, located in the southwestern corner of Hancock County, is a community of 2,365. Once the site of a thriving lumber industry, Pearlington, on the banks of the Pearl River, was also the terminal for the Louisiana-Mississippi automobile ferry.

As population and economic opportunities shifted over the years and a new highway bypassed the area, Pearlington became an isolated population of children and adults who have limited government and community services except the Charles B. Murphy Elementary School.

Located some 16 miles from the incorporated county seat of Bay St. Louis, Pearlington has no shopping center, few small businesses, no major grocery store and no major businesses.

Charles B. Murphy Elementary School serves almost 200 children, but an equal number of children and young adults are bused daily on a 50-mile round trip to the middle, junior and high school located in Kiln.

Upon their return to the community, they have no library resources or after-school activities. Transportation out of the community is not a possibility to many of these children. Pre-school children have no opportunities to attend reading enrichment story times. Adults are isolated from the Library System's adult education and literacy program and there are no community facilities to house extensions of the Community Education Program or the School District's GED program.

To remedy this educational and informational inequity, the Hancock County Library System and Hancock County School District have entered into a partnership to provide a joint-use library facility in Pearlington.

The unique cooperative effort will not only meet the needs of the children attending Charles B. Murphy Elementary School, but will also provide library and information services to the entire community in a facility provided by the school district and operated by the library system.

The benefits of the partnership are numerous and exciting. Students, teachers and the public will gain vital library and information services. With the library system's online database available in the school, students and teachers will have access not only to information about books in the in the Bay. But a major storm all but destroyed the stretch of wooden pier that was to remain in place.

Dove said the contractor as of Monday had set pilings 480 feet from the shoreline, leaving 220 feet of work to go.

He said soil conditions became more favorable to jetting pilings into place, when the work hit the 420-foot mark. Workers had hit harder soils closer to shore, and had to drill to place the pilings.

Dove said workers are now able to place about six pilings every two days, quickening the pace of the project.

In other action Monday, council members agreed to seek an extension on a federal grant that will help pay for hurricane shutters on the city's Senior Citizens Complex on Bookter Street.

Confusion over what government is going to pick up the $8,856 tab for a required local match has surfaced. Apparently, city officials thought the county government would chip in for the local cost, but county officials weren't aware of that plan and didn't budget money for it.

City Council members said

Monday the county, and possibly Waveland, should provide the local match, because the city-owned center would be used by residents of Waveland and unincorporated area citizens as well.

Council member Carleen Moran said the original grant application the city submitted stated that the county would provide the local match. "But I think it slipped through the cracks," she said. "Now the board of Supervisors is saying they're not going to pay for it."

Mayor Eddie Favre said if the city has to put up the local share, officials probably should return the federal grant and forget the project.

Council members agreed to negotiate with the county and Waveland, to see if a cost-sharing plan can be agreed upon.

In another matter, council set a special meeting for 7 p.m. Tuesday to continue work on a proposed comprehensive plan. Passage of such a plan is required by state law before the city can zone the lands it annexed in the early 1990's.

SPORTS

2B-THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1998

Bob Harmon Football Forecast

NFL Forecast
Sunday and Monday,
Sept. 27-28

*Baltimore, 22—Cincinnati, 15
(Sunday) The Ravens scored 20 unanswered points in their first battle with the Bengals in 1997, winning 23-10, then Boomer Esiason threw two TD's to lead Cincy to a 16-14 victory in his final game.

*Dallas, 26—Oakland, 19
It's surprising that the Cowboys and Raiders have met only six times, but no surprise that each team's win three, most recently Dallas in '95, 34-21. The Boys can prove they're for real.

Denver, 24—Washington, 16
Three years ago, the last time the Broncos and Redskins faced off, Denver won a wild one, 38-31. This should be close, too, because Washington's secondary can stifle Denver's air attack.

Green Bay, 29—Carolina, 13
In the rematch of the '96 NFC Championship game, the Packers once again took the Panthers apart last December, winning 31-10 behind Brett Favre's three TD passes. Here's more of the same.

Jacksonville, 21—Tennessee, 12
After splitting their series in its first two seasons, the Jaguars swept the Oilers in '97, 30-24 on the road and 17-9 at home, the latter as QB Mark Brunell connected on 22 of 30 passes.

Kansas City, 33—Philadelphia, 14
This is K.C.'s first appearance ever in Philadelphia: The Chiefs and Eagles have met only twice, both times in K.C., Philly winning in '72 and the Chiefs in '92. K.C. looks too strong.

Minnesota, 20—Chicago, 10
Led by Brad Johnson's combined 55-for-77 passing, the Vikings came back to beat the Bears in the final 37 seconds of their first '97 matchup, 27-24, then led all the way in a 29-22 win.

New Orleans, 14—Indianapolis, 13
As the team from Baltimore, the Colts won their first three games against the Saints, but N.O. has won the last three, most recently in '95. Tough picks like this one give us headaches.

N.Y. Giants, 18—San Diego, 9
The last time the Giants met the Chargers, three years ago, they were very different teams and S.D. won in N.Y. 27-17. Neither is an offensive powerhouse, so look for defense to win it.

*Pittsburgh, 28—Seattle, 17
Are the Seahawks possible contenders? Amazingly, they lead their series with the Steelers 6-5 and have won the last two, in '93 and '94, but they've only managed one win in Pittsburgh.

*St. Louis, 21—Arizona, 14
The Cardinals have won four of their five battles with the Rams in the '90s, including a 31-28 OT thriller in '96, but we don't think St. Louis will let them win in a city they deserted.

*St. Louis, 21—Arizona, 14
The Cardinals have won four of their five battles with the Rams in the '90s, including a 31-28 OT thriller in '96, but we don't think St.

Louis will let them win in a city they deserted.

*San Francisco, 35—Atlanta, 7
Since '94 the 49ers have taken seven of eight from the Falcons, often by several TD's. Only in their second game last year (after losing 34-7) did Atlanta come within a TD of S.F., 35-28.

Tampa Bay, 19—Detroit, 15
(Monday) Since '94, the Lions have dominated the Buccaneers, winning six of seven until T.B. pounded Detroit 20-10 in the '97 playoffs. Earlier the Bucs won in Detroit for the first time since '92.

College Highlights for Sept. 26

This Saturday, the Nebraska Cornhuskers and their new coach, Frank Solich, will face their first big test of the season when they host Washington. Fans will be watching closely for any subtle changes in Nebraska's look — and play — under the leadership of Solich, successor to the legendary Tom Osborne. We're picking the Huskers to win by 10 points, but this won't resemble last year's 27-14 Nebraska win in Seattle.

For one thing, the result was a small upset, since Washington was the favorite in 1997, ranked second while the Huskers were seventh. For another, Nebraska is without departed QB Scott Frost, who ran for 34- and 30-yard TD's on the Huskers' first two possessions against the Huskies, part of a ground attack that gained 384 yards.

On the other hand, Washington kept last year's game close without starting QB Brock Huard, who sprained his ankle early. Huard has been waiting for his chance to get another piece of Nebraska, so this matchup has the makings of a classic.

In another huge game, Southern Cal visits Florida State. Last year in Los Angeles, then-first-ranked Florida State beat No. 23 U.S.C. 14-7 in a defense-dominated battle that shouldn't have been so close. F.S.U. held the Trojans to only 25 yards of rushing, while Seminoles QB Thad Busby threw for 276 yards — but Florida State had nine points taken off the scoreboard by penalties and needed a 97-yard TD drive in the fourth quarter to win it. This time around there'll be more offense on display, and most of it will be F.S.U.'s.

We were looking forward to the Michigan-Michigan State grudge match all summer, but it just won't be the same after the shockingly bad starts both teams got off to. Maybe they'll loosen up and play a more exciting game than they did in East Lansing in '97, when the Wolverines, ranked No. 5, corralled the No. 15 Spartans 23-7. Intercepting Michigan State QB Todd Schultz five times, Michigan played conservative — some called it boring — offense. The crowd in Ann Arbor will expect more — and should get it.

In Gainesville, Fla., the Kentucky Wildcats may give the Florida Gators a fight — unlike their last two matchups, both won by Florida by a combined score of 120-28. Father south, Miami may give U.C.L.A. a scare in these teams' first meeting since the Bruins beat the Hurricanes 31-8 in '95. And our upset of the week? Northwestern over Wisconsin.

River comes up short

Keith Daniels told his winless Pearl River Community College Wildcats not to hang their heads following Thursday night's 19-10 loss to undefeated Mississippi Delta — their third straight setback of the 1998 season.

"With all the progress we achieved in just a week's time, rest assured that we'll continue to improve and eventually we'll get the job done," said Daniels. Statistically, Mississippi Delta held a 395 to 129 advantage in total yardage, but three Trojan fumbles were recovered by the Wildcats.

First-year Wildcat linebackers coach Deke Adams said he and defensive coordinator Mike Humphreys challenged their troops going into the game.

Pearl River had its chances early. On its second possession of the game, the Wildcats drove to the Trojans 32, but PK Nando Lopes was wide right on a 46-yard field goal with 11:56 left in the opening quarter.

Four series later, Trojan QB Rob Chapman engineered a nine-play, 65-yard drive highlighted by back-to-back 21-yard pass completions to TE Anthony Scott and RB Tekino George to set the stage for the game's first score — a four-yard QB keeper with 13:12 left in the half. A barrage of Wildcats blocked the Brian Andrus' PAT, but the Trojans led 6-0.

On Delta's next series, Chapman's back-up freshman Jerico Provist, completed his first pass of the night with a 22-yarder to WR Shantares Boatman down to the Wildcat 25. Three plays later, the Trojans coughed up the ball and freshman LB Jay Livingston recovered for the Wildcats to thwart the scoring threat.

The half ended 6-0.

Pearl River took its only lead of the game on the second half kickoff when freshman Shondell Hill's bone-crushing hit on MDCC's return man resulted in a fumble and freshman DeShonzo Franklin returned the ball 14 yards for the game-tying TD. Lopes' PAT gave the Wildcats a 7-6 edge with only 13 seconds gone in the third period.

But the Trojans retaliated quickly. Following the ensuing kickoff, Chapman engineered a 13-play, 58-yard scoring drive and converted a fourth and two situation with a keeper with at the Wildcat 39. Five plays later the Baton Rouge sophomore's TD strike to Scott was nullified via a penalty, but George ran it in on the next play from the two with 8:05 left in the period. The Wildcats also thwarted two Trojan attempts at a two-point conversion, but MDCC led 12-7.

Three plays later, freshman Greg Mitchell's punt saw Boatman fumble and freshman Nick Wilkes recovered for the Wildcats at the Trojan 29. PRCC drove to the Delta eight in five plays, then Lopes clicked on a 24-yard field goal with 3:32 left in the period to tighten things to 12-10.

With 11:13 left in the game, Chapman's five-yard keeper capped a four-play, 57-yard scoring drive. Andrus' PAT made it 19-10.

PRCC drove to the Delta 41, but DB Eugene Liger intercepted Freshman QB Derrell Burkett's pass at the Trojan 15. MDCC killed the remaining five minutes of the game with 10 rushing plays.

"We're still struggling offensively, but still we made improvement there against Delta," Daniels said.

Chapman and RB John Jones paced Delta's 222-yard rushing attack with 68 and 66 yards, respectively, while Trojan QBs Derrell Burkett and Jonathon Lott connected on six of 21 passes (one interception).

Pearl River finished with 72 rushing and 57 passing yards. Freshman RB Jimmie Rax led the Wildcats with 37 yards on 12 carries, while freshman QBs Derrell Burkett and Jonathon Lott connected on six of 21 passes (one interception).

MDCC had 21 first downs to PRCC's five, while Mitchell punted nine times for a 37-yard average, including two for 45 yards and a 49-yarder.

Paillou claims first win at Sun Coast Speedway

Capt. Morrison and Ronnie Robert led the Pro Stock field to the starting line with Morrison exiting turn two in the lead. Roberts slipped high in turn four allowing Rodney Bruce and Mike Paillou to move past. Paillou kept the heat on Morrison as the field battled for position with several cars receiving race-ending damage in the process.

On one of the restarts, Morrison pushed high in turn four allowing Paillou and Bruce to move past. Morrison got into a three wide battle as he tried to regain his position which resulted in contact with the front wall. This ended Morrison's racing for the night.

Bruce also suffered mechanical problems taking him out of the heat of the battle. Paillou moved out to a comfortable lead while Jeremy Broadus found himself in the second spot as they came across the finish line.

John Varhol finished third after coming from the back of the 12-car lineup.

Heat winner Randy Deschamps finished fourth. Morrison was also a heat winner.

Rodney Barber claimed another flag-to-flag win in the Street Stock division, but only after a wheel-to-wheel battle with Anson Holley. Holley did everything but find a way around Barber in one of the hardest fought races of the evening.

Bubba Trotter and Billy Riles also waged a battle for the third spot with Trotter coming out on top as they came to the checkers. Danny Lee and Robert Hopkins won earlier heat races.

Chris Moran made it four out of the last five in the IMCA class but only after a hard-fought battle to get to the front. Brant Terillo moved to the front on the green flag lap and led past the mid-way point only to see Moran and Kailif Sellier slip past on one of the caution restarts.

Numerous fender benders thinned the field taking out several previous winners, including Chuckie Smith who has been nationally ranked for most of the season along with Sellier. James Sheasby and heat winner Ben Stephens rounded out the top five. Terillo was also a heat race winner.

Rickey Hankins continued his domination of the Late Model division after going on a green to checkers run in a 10-car field of race cars. Bubba Schonewitz was off to one of his better outings after qualifying second for a share of the front row on the start of the feature race.

Brett Lacoste and Schonewitz got together on the green flag lap causing damage to Schonewitz's car which would later cause him to take it to the pits for the night. Lacoste also went in before the race was completed with mechanical problems.

Jeff Cooper suffered mechanical problems on the warm-up laps and was out before the green flag waved.

Keith Miller, who missed qualifying due to mechanical difficulties, started from the rear and moved into the third spot as remainder of the field crossed the finish line.

Randy Walters was able to keep Hankins from loafing on his way to the win while he acquainted himself with a brand new race car in only its second time out.

Heat winner Billy Joe Schonewitz finished in the fourth spot over Major Hudson to round out the top five.

Jeremy Eaton added another heat and feature win to his list in the Rookie division.

'The Battle of New Orleans' boxing scheduled

Promoters Leslie Bonano and Bill Schultz have announced series of world class professional boxing events to be held in New Orleans called "Boxing on Ice."

They will be held at the Municipal Auditorium, 801 N. Rampart Street. The first event of the series is titled "The Battle of New Orleans" and is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 29 at 7 p.m.

The Municipal Auditorium has been the scene of some of New Orleans finest moments in boxing, dating back to the days when standing-room-only crowds attended weekly shows and saw local neighborhood heroes battle each other in the ring.

The philosophy behind this sensational new series of fight cards is simple. For years, boxing fans have paid outrageous prices for over-hyped pay-per-view events and been disappointed more often than not.

Now, New Orleans will bring excitement back to boxing with competitive matches on a regular basis, and compete with cities like Las Vegas, New York and Atlantic City as a host for world class events.

The main event, 10 rounds Jr. Middleweights, features Ronald "The Cobra" Weaver (22-3, 18 kos, New Orleans), IBA Intercontinental Champion, rated NABF No. 12 vs. Orin "007" Osbey (16-2 kos, New Orleans) rated NO. 9 NABF.

Weaver and Osbey are the city's two top young contenders. They have seen each other advance as amateurs and professionals, and an intense rivalry has developed between them.

Each fighter has been waiting for the day to prove himself against the other. Both are confident, ready and itching for the opportunity to settle an old score.

This fight will be the first time that two world-rated native New Orleanians have fought each other in New Orleans since the days of legendary battles like Percy Pugh vs. Jerry Pellegrini and Tony Licata vs. Alvin Phillips.

Co-features, 8 rounds Super Middleweights include Will McIntyre (15-1, 7 kos, Covington) vs. Lonnie Knowles (16-5, 7 kos Indianapolis).

The "Pride of Covington" McIntyre is a standout prospect who is maturing and developing into a top professional with every fight. He will have his toughest test as a pro against veteran Knowles of Indianapolis.

A special 4-round attraction will feature the return to the ring of Fouad "Fred" Zeton, "The Syrian Destroyer." Zeton built a strong local following with his exciting style and is making his comeback by popular demand.

The preliminary bouts will feature the best in local talent,

Volleyball roundup

OLA-Pass Christian

Our Lady Academy sunk the Pass Christian Lady Pirates, 15-0 and 15-3, Tuesday night in a district high school volleyball contest.

Jodie Myers was high scorer for the Crescents with 11 points. OLA is currently 6-3 in district action and 6-5 overall.

The OLA junior varsity also won, defeating Pass Christian 15-3 and 15-5. Julie ReBoul led the way for the Crescents with 15 points as the team improved to 6-3 in district play and 7-4 overall.

OLA will face the Lady Hawks at Hancock High School tonight with the junior varsity game set to start at 6 p.m.

Bay High-Long Beach

The Long Beach Lady Bears used their strong serves and hard-hit set plays to down the Bay High School Lady Tigers, 15-4 and 15-5, in the Tiger Dome Tuesday night. Andrea Sellier scored six points for Bay High as the team fell to 8-3 on the season.

In junior varsity action, Long Beach won 15-5 and 15-6. Tarie Booth and Virginia Sims scored three points each for the 6-4 Lady Tigers.

Bay High will host the Biloxi Lady Indians tonight with the junior varsity contest beginning at 6 p.m.

USM coaching staff reports on season

The University of Southern Mississippi Golden Eagle football coaching staff will be on hand Friday, Sept. 25 from 11:45 a.m. until 1 p.m. at Jackie Os Restaurant in Diamondhead to report on the season's accomplishments.

Tickets to the session are $9 and include lunch. For additional information, contact Billy Walker at 388-8200 or Jim Van Norman at 255-7599.

Tournament to benefit survivors of slain officers

A memorial golf tournament will be held Oct. 12 at The Oaks Golf Course. The proceeds will benefit the surviving members of the slain officers' families and the Gulf Coast Women's Center for Non-violence, as these officers died as a direct result of domestic violence.

For information, contact Dawn, Michelle or Mitchell at the Long Beach Police Department, 865-1981.

Lab's apprentice program will help students excel

Science conducted in a classroom environment can often be very different from science conducted in a laboratory environment.

The Naval Research Laboratory's (NRL) Science and Engineering Apprentice Program (SEAP) enables students to see both the comparisons and differences of science learned and science practiced.

Nikki Nelson, a Picayune freshman at PRCC, was one of 14 local students selected to participate in NRL's 1998 SEAP.

Nelson, under the guidance of mentor Marlin Gendron of the Mapping, Charting and Geodesy Section, worked with latitude and longitude lines to plot points on NRL's digital moving map system.

The map system allows Navy and Marine Corps pilots to view their location on a cockpit computer screen rather than using traditional paper maps.

SEAP awards grants to high school sophomores, juniors and seniors, affording them the opportunity to learn from practical on-the-job experience under a mentor who is a scientist or engineers.

The apprenticeship tailored to the students' interest and capabilities and meets the requirements of the research being conducted at the laboratory.

Practicing scientists work with high school students to give them a firsthand understanding of scientific methods, and foster their interest in pursuing college-level training that could lead to careers in science and engineering.

The Department of Defense Science and Engineering Apprentice Program was started in 1980 as an effort to encourage more students to pursue the scientific careers needed by the United States to meet the technological challenges of the future.

Students interested in applying for this program should contact the SEAP Program Office, Naval Research Laboratory, Stennis Space Center, MS 39529-5004, or phone (601) 688-4754.

Volunteers sponsor job fair

Volunteer Gulf Coast Organization will sponsor a volunteer fair Saturday, Oct. 3, 11 a.m.-2 p.m. at Gulfport Outlet Mall Food Court.

Special door prizes and Outlet Mall discounts will be offered during the day.

Local organizations, such as the healthcare and hospice providers, education and government agencies, handicapped and disabled, senior citizen and youth groups, emergency and environmental services, will provide opportunities for any type of volunteer jobs.

For information, call 385-7712.

Area students receive MC scholarships

Benjamin Taylor of Bay St. Louis and Amanda Kingston of Waveland are Mississippi College scholarship recipients.

Scholarship recipients are selected by reviewing each applicant's academic, leadership and personal attributes.

Academic evaluation is done using high school grades, high school class rank, ACT or SAT scores, and college grade point average for transfer students.

Leadership is evaluated by reviewing extracurricular activities, church involvement and community involvement.

Personal attributes are established using three references. References come from the student's church minister; high school teacher, principal or counselor; and from a friend.

'Batman' announces for Ward Three alderman

Ralph L. West Jr. officially announced he plans to run as a conservative Democratic candidate for alderman in Ward Three.

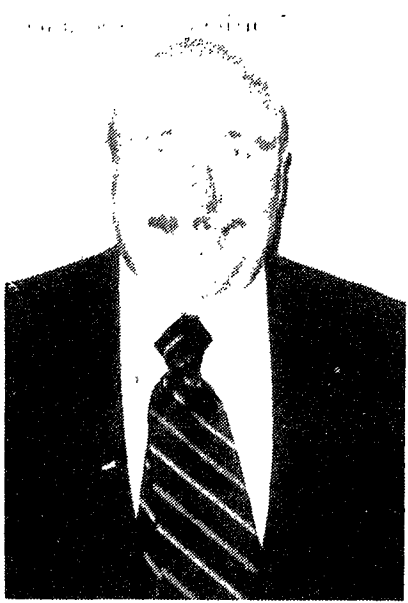

West was a member of the New Orleans Fire Department for 22 years, retiring with the rank of Captain. It was during this time that he acquired the nickname "Batman."

During his tenure with the fire department, West was an active participant in the development and administration of the Hazardous Materials Response Team.

"This experience gave me a broad knowledge of environmental concerns and the need to protect our natural resources," said West.

West further stated, "My concerns are the concerns of the residents of Ward 3; a better safer Waveland with improved services and less taxes for all our residents."

West has an associate of science degree from Delgado Community College. He also has been certified in the field of marine fire fighting, emergency medical technology, hazardous materials compliance and enforcement, supervision and personnel effectiveness, fire instructor I rating, and safety management.

West served in the U.S. Coast Guard attaining the rank of 3rd Class Petty Officer in Marine Environmental Protection with honorable discharge. He is a lifetime member of the Louisiana State Fireman's Association and IHMSA.

West resides on Farrar Lane with his wife Margaret.

Margaret's mother, Mary Gilmore, resides in Waveland, and daughter Vanessa Favre is a resident of Bay St. Louis.

USM SBDC cosponsors business, marketing fair

Individuals interested in learning the basics of business and marketing may attend the fourth annual Gulf Coast Business and Marketing Fair Sept. 24 at the Treasure Bay Casino Resort in Biloxi.

The fair will provide a full day of informative workshop sessions on such topics as business plans, marketing, international trade, loans and lines of credit, interpreting financing statements and doing business with NASA.

Approximately 50 to 75 local, state and government agencies will have exhibitions providing information on their products and services.

Fee is $15 per person.

Co-sponsors include the Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development, U.S. Department of Commerce, U.S. Small Business Administration, Hancock Bank, Harrison County Development Commission, Jackson County Chamber of Commerce, Mississippi Power Company, NASA and the University of Southern Mississippi Small Business Development Center.

For information, contact the USM Small Business Development Center at 865-4578.

Control burning popular but risky

By Mark Jamieson
Hancock County Forester

(Fourth and final article in a series on prescribed burning)
In this series of articles we're addressing the question: "Why can't you come right out and do my burning?"

We've seen that prescribed burning is a very popular Mississippi Forestry Commission program, but because of inherent risks, burns may be pre-planned, very exacting weather conditions must prevail, and even then, burns are conducted according to priority.

So, the plans have been made, you've called the county forester and he's told you you're next on the list, and weather conditions are exactly as prescribed in the plan, but no one shows up to do your burning. Why not?

The problem might be crew availability. The Mississippi Forestry Commission, like many other state agencies, has been "downsized." We have less than two-thirds as many people as we had 10 years ago.

Our primary responsibility is wildfire control, and we must carefully guard against the demands of other work jeopardizing our ability to provide this essential service.

Often, counties share crews with crews from one county "standing by" for another county's crews to burn. That works — if there are no other problems. If the fire danger is too high, there are ongoing fires, or if people are scheduled to be off because they worked the weekend (fires burn on Saturdays and Sundays, too) or are on sick or vacation leave, burning might be too risky. We, too, hate to lose a good burning day, but public safety is paramount. If we err, it must be on the side of caution.

A day that looks to you like it is ideal for burning might be fraught with problems for us.

We ask that you please be patient. We try our best to get your burning done at the proper time.

'Fall Fun Festival' set by USM Women's Resources Committee

The University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Coast's Committee for Services and Resources for Women will hold a "Fall Fun Festival" Oct. 3, 8 a.m.-1 p.m. on the Gulf Park Campus in Long Beach.

The event will feature food, a plant sale, a silent auction, fun run/walk, storytelling, book sale and more.

"Purpose is to support, initiate and coordinate education and community projects and/or events that serve to highlight issues concerning women on campus and in the Gulf Coast community," said Dr. Kay Harris, committee chair.

Proceeds from the festival will offer future scholarships to USMGC students and sponsor activities during Women's History Month.

For information, call Harris at 228-865-4511; Jennifer Blacklock, 228-865-4599 or Jennifer McLaughlin at 228-865-4539.

Coalition schedules Connections '98 Job Fair

A job fair for people with disabilities, sponsored by the Coalition for Citizens with Disabilities and the Mississippi Department of Rehabilitation Services in recognition of October being National Disability Awareness Month, will be held Friday, Oct. 16.

The job fair, called Connections '98, will be at the Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College, Jefferson Davis campus in Gulfport, 9 a.m.-1 p.m.

The event will provide a forum for citizens with disabilities to market their skills and capabilities to approximately 30 local employers who will be attempting to fulfill their employment needs.

For information, call (228) 897-7615 or (228) 435-2001.

Tingstrom announces for Ward 1 alderman

Nikki S. Tingstrom, 28, of Waveland, is announcing her candidacy for alderman. Ward 1, for the Nov. 3 Democratic primary.

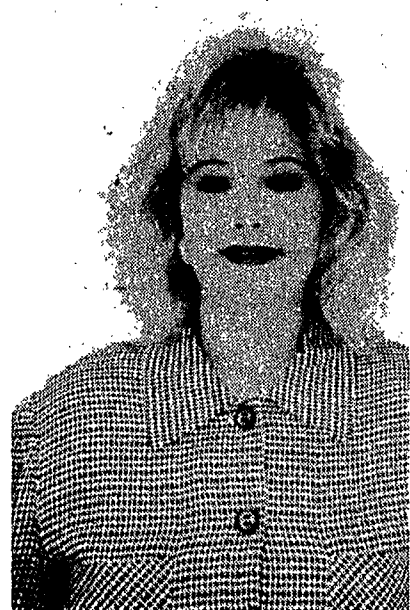

Tingstrom is a 1988 graduate of Bay High School and studied business administration at Jefferson Davis Junior College in Biloxi.

She is married to Grant E. Tingstrom III, and has two sons, Brandon, 9, and Mike, 4, and a stepson, James, 12.

Tingstrom has been the owner of Shieldsboro, Inc., a small investment corporation, since 1995.

In making her announcement, Tingstrom stated, "If elected I plan on serving the citizens of Ward 1 with true dedication. Many people of my ward have expressed the need for senior and youth programs, better drainage, street improvements, our playgrounds to be updated, and programs to keep our beach beautiful and nature-friendly."

"In order to make these improvements possible without a tax increase, we simply must look to outside agencies to fund these projects. As a matter of fact, federal and state agencies collectively allocated billions of dollars in the past two years nationwide to cities, police and fire departments, human services, environmental groups, libraries, planning and economic development, etc.

"As alderman, I will identify funding resources, submit proposals, and secure the dollars available to give our city the boost it needs to generate progress and economic growth.

"Let's get things done, Ward 1."

Blood Pressure

Retired Senior Volunteer Program sponsors free blood pressure testing on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month from 9-11 a.m. at the American Legion Post 77, on Coleman Avenue in Waveland.

Hancock Medical Center Women's Auxiliary (Pink Ladies) conducts free blood pressure testing at the hospital, 10-11:30 a.m. Tuesdays.

Blood drive

IHL/Humanities Council lecture focuses on 'Access to Education'

On Thursday, Sept. 24 at 1:30 p.m., opportunities exist for Mississippians to discuss existing efforts and what can be done to encourage children to seek higher education.

More than 30 educators, business persons and community leaders will be speaking through the state's interactive videoconferencing network linking the originating site in Jackson with six other locations around the state.

The program is another in a series of conversations about "What Affects Access to Higher Education," sponsored by the Institutions of Higher Learning and the Mississippi Humanities Council.

Deana Day, co-news director, co-anchor, producer, WMDN-WGBC Television in Meridian, will moderate the session with guest speaker Dr. William M. Fulkerson Jr., president, State Colleges of Denver, Colo., and panelists scheduled to be at the IHL offices and at the universities.

Thomas D. Layzell, commissioner of higher education, explained the event. "For the past year, the IHL, concerned citizens and community leaders across the state have been exploring these issues through a series of lectures under the umbrella topic of "Access to Higher Education," made possible by a grant from the Mississippi Humanities Council.

These lectures have dealt with such things as the role of the university in the community and how it is perceived; the number of women and minorities at our universities; and technology's place in making

Technology trainer hired

The Gulf Coast Education Initiative Consortium (GCEIC) recently hired Carrie Wade to serve as technology trainer for the 19-member school districts in the consortium.

As part of her duties, Wade will provide each school district with technology training that is designed to fit its individual needs.

Wade received a bachelor's degree in elementary education from the University of Southern Mississippi and a master's degree from William Carey College.

She is currently working on a specialist's degree in curriculum instruction at the University of Southern Mississippi.

The Gulf Coast Education Initiative Consortium is a unique partnership between NASA's Stennis Space Center, the University of Southern Mississippi, educators and school administrators to support the efforts of six counties in Mississippi, one parish in Louisiana and two Catholic dioceses to develop a quality education system.

For information, contact the Gulf Coast Education Initiative Consortium at (228) 867-8769 or (228) 688-3842.

Birds will sing for their supper in migratory season

When birds of a feather get together for dinner and drinks in the fall, an ordinary backyard can suddenly become a magical, musical place.

With migratory season on its way, blue jays, cardinals, grackles and finches are just some of the bird species that can be attracted to your lawn for daily feedings. And, despite their dainty nature, they're not picky eaters, says Dr. Paul Lago, a professor of biology and ornithologist at the University of Mississippi.

"Some birds will eat any food," he says. "We used to have blue jays that would clean out our dog food dish. They loved it."

As with any restaurant, menu, good service and atmosphere are the key factors for a four-star rating among birds. Lago offers the following tips:

• Set a relaxed, informal mood.

Birds are always on the look-out for predators. A wide, open serving area, such as a picnic table, allows the birds to keep an eye out for danger while sampling the goodies. Lago favors simple, open, wooden platforms, either elevated or placed at ground level.

• Find the right recipes. Sunflower seeds are a staple. "Most birds seem to like them," Lago notes. A mix of chopped corn, sunflower seeds and a little store-bought "wild bird" seed is another palate-pleaser with wide appeal. But certain birds have fancier tastes. For example, goldfinches go for thistle seeds, and woodpeckers and nuthatches will fly out of their way for suet.

• Even birds need a little elbow room.

Many store-bought feeders, such as tiny, cabin-shaped houses, are simply too small and cramped. Birds require plenty of space to perch, and, because they hate to dine alone, they need enough room together in larger parties. Small, fancy bird feeders "are mostly for people to look at," the Ole Miss professor says.

• Don't be stingy with the servings.

What the bird doesn't eat right away, it may carry back to the nest as a "doggie bag." Birds will often stuff their gullets with more food than they can wolf down in a single meal and save the leftovers for leaner times. It may look like bad table manners, but it's just smart planning from the bird's-eye view.
